How does a school get your name for an interview?

- When a school is ready to interview for a job opening, they only interview candidates in the pool with the required qualifications needed.
- You may be contacted by phone or email for an interview by the school if you meet their needs and qualifications.
 - Make sure you have given us contact information that you check frequently (personal emails are better than school or work emails in case they are disconnected.)

You will not apply for specific positions you see on the canyons website:

- If you see a job you are interested in at <https://jobs.canyonsdistrict.org/hr/home.cfm>, send the Principal an email to express your interest.
 - Principal emails are found on school webpages at www.canyonsdistrict.org/schools.
 - Schools have requested you do not call or go in person to express interest.
