9. New Business

- A. Long Range Planning Update – Study of Boundary Enrollment, School Consolidation and Potential School Closures (First Reading) – Leon Wilcox, Business Administrator

There continues to be a decline in enrollment and reports show that from 2018-19 to 2024-25 there has been a decline of 1,724 elementary students in Canyons School District. There are two major reasons cited for the decline, which are increasing housing prices/interest rates and the declining birth rate. The preferred elementary school size is a least three classes per grade, with four classes being the optimal. This would make the preferred elementary size of 425-567 students per school. The District currently has 10 schools under 375 students per school. The Facility Condition Index (FCI) score was shared for each of these 10 schools. The average operating costs for an elementary school, large or small enrollment, is approximately $1,203,300 million per year.

The complexity of the Dual Language Immersion (DLI) impact was reviewed. Spanish remains a popular option but enrollments for Chinese and French are declining. DLI is the most expensive program offered by the District which requires a supplement of 15 FTE's or $1.6 million per year.

The boundary study timeline, Utah Code 53G-4-402(24) was reviewed. The District is considering options to addressing the declining enrollment through studying boundary changes, school consolidations and potential school closures. A study of the DLI, which is considered a special enrollment program, will be reviewed to consider consolidations or closure of the program. Information will be sent to all parents whose boundaries may be affected. Also, open houses will be scheduled for the 2025-2026 school year to inform parents and staff of information impacting their schools. Presentation and documents on BoardDocs.

B. Emergency Management Team Update – Jeff Haney, Director of Communications

The Emergency Management Team (EMT), is made up of the members of the Board of Education, District Administrators, and representatives of the schools and their purpose is to continuously evaluate safety plans and protocols in the District. This team oversees the crisis response guidelines for coordination, checklist, practice drills and site-specific safety plans. The Board of Education's facility-improvement plan allowed CSD to rebuild schools with safety in mind. CSD schools are built seismically safe, have state-of-the-art surveillance systems, and automatic locks that require employees to have ID badges to gain entry.

The District provides the community with incident response and updates through informing the Board, Cabinet, and District Operations Team. A team is dispatched to the scene for on-the-ground updates, provide information and work with first responders. The Student Wellness Service Department evaluates the need for crisis counseling at the scene and support at the schools. Parents receive information about the incident. Notes from the debrief with school employees and responding staff are shared with the EMT.

The current school safety projects include, school safety specialists (HB61), Guardian program, panic buttons, bullet resistant glass (HB84), school safety amendments passed during 2025 legislature (HB40), TCU Alert notification system, ID badge information repository, and door-check assignments. Additional feedback during the tours included teacher appreciation for additional planning time, fallout from unfunded mandates from the Legislature, addressing tech issues and concerns in schools, and employee health benefits. A list of employee driven changes was reviewed for the current and 2025-2026 school year. Presentation available on BoardDocs.

D. IT committee Update and Discussion – Superintendent Rick Robins

The District has been a "Common Sense" school district for four years, committed to teaching digital citizenship and the responsible use of technology. This program requires professionally trained teachers, teaching all students across two grade levels six digital citizenship lessons or teaching all students across three grade levels three digital citizenship lessons. School-based Digital Citizenship Coordinators share monthly tips/resources with families.

Canyons is committed to partnering with parents and will be seeking input on preferred Chromebook filtering practices for elementary schools, now through April 30, 2025. The district is asking for feedback from School Community Councils, building leadership teams, individual parents and employees can also provide input through the “Your Schools, Your Voice” portal on the CSD website and feedback will also be accepted at communications@canyonsdistrict.org.

The Administration is recommending going out for an RFP for a technology filtering system, do a deep dive on third party app agreements, explore a three strike suspension for student inappropriate searches and determine other appropriate levels of discipline for misuse of technology.
