What is Long Term Disability insurance?

Long Term Disability (LTD) insurance helps replace a portion of your income for an extended period of Disability.

Eligibility Requirements

Long Term Disability:

All active full time employees working at least 20 hours per week are eligible to participate. An Employee who does not have regular work hours is deemed eligible if he or she has worked at least an average of 30 hours per week during the preceding 12 calendar months.

How is “Disability” defined under the Plan?

Generally, you are considered disabled and eligible for long term benefits if, due to sickness, pregnancy or accidental injury, you are receiving appropriate care and treatment and are complying with the requirements of the treatment, and, you are unable to earn more than 80% of your predisability earnings at your own occupation for any employer in the Local Economy, and you are unable to perform each of the material duties of your own occupation for any employer in the Local Economy.

Following the Own Occupation period, you are considered disabled if, due to sickness, pregnancy or accidental injury, you are receiving appropriate care and treatment and complying with the requirements of treatment and you are unable to earn 80% of your predisability earnings for any employer and you are unable to perform the duties of any gainful occupation for any employer in the Local Economy for which you are reasonably qualified taking into account your training, education and experience.

For a complete description of this and other requirements that must be met, refer to the Certificate of Insurance/ Summary Plan Description provided by your Employer or contact your MetLife benefits administrator with any questions.

What is the benefit amount?

Long Term Disability:

The Long Term Disability benefit replaces a portion of your predisability earnings, less other income you may receive from other sources¹ for the same Disability (e.g., Social Security, Workers' Compensation, vacation pay, etc.).

The Benefit amount is 66 2/3 % of your predisability earnings to the plan's maximum monthly benefit.

What is the maximum monthly benefit?

The amount of the Long Term Disability benefit may not exceed the maximum monthly benefit established under the plan, regardless of your annual salary amount. The maximum under this plan is $5,000. If your salary exceeds $90,000, your LTD benefit will be limited to this maximum.

When do benefits begin and how long do they continue?

Long Term Disability:

Benefits begin to accrue on the date following the day you complete the elimination period. The elimination period begins on the day you become disabled and is the length of time you must wait while being disabled before you are eligible to receive a benefit. Your elimination period for Long Term Disability is 180 days.

Benefits may continue for as long as you are disabled from your own occupation and any occupation up to a maximum duration defined in the plan.

Your plan's maximum benefit duration and any specific limitations are described in the Certificate of Insurance/Summary Plan Description provided by your Employer or contact your MetLife benefits administrator with any questions.

Q. Can I still receive benefits if I return to work part time?

A. Maybe. As long as you are disabled and meet the terms of your Disability plan, you may qualify for adjusted Disability benefits.

Your plan offers financial and Rehabilitation] incentives designed to help you to return to work when appropriate, even on a part-time basis[when you participate in an approved Rehabilitation Program.

For the first 24 months of LTD benefits you may receive up to 100% of your predisability earnings when combining benefits, work incentives, other income sources such as SSDI benefits, and part-time earnings. After the 24 months period, your monthly benefit will be reduced by 50% of your predisability earnings while disabled. However, if the total amount you receive when combining benefits, work incentives, other income sources such as SSDI benefits, state disability benefits, and part-time earnings exceeds 100% of your predisability earnings, your monthly benefit will be further reduced by that portion of the total amount you receive which exceeds 100% of your predisability earnings.
